

3 Courses

A Guide to Healthcare Innovation: Principles and Practice

Healthcare Entrepreneurship: Taking Ideas to Market

Healthcare Innovation: What Does Success Look Like and How to Achieve It?

Imperial College London

Jun 21, 2023

Melania Geymonat Ramírez

has successfully completed the online, non-credit Specialization

Global Health Innovations

This specialisation comprises three courses on global health challenges and the role of innovative solutions in addressing them. Successful participants can describe the principles and key types of innovation; compare and contrast the systems and processes that support the development, investment and protection of healthcare innovation in different contexts; evaluate key factors that influence the adoption and scaling-up of different types of healthcare innovations; critique innovation using particular frameworks, make recommendations, and persuade an audience to adopt a healthcare innovation.

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Matthew Harris".

Dr Matthew Harris,
Clinical Senior Lecturer
in Public Health

The online specialization named in this certificate may draw on material from courses taught on-campus, but the included courses are not equivalent to on-campus courses. Participation in this online specialization does not constitute enrollment at this university. This certificate does not confer a University grade, course credit or degree, and it does not verify the identity of the learner.

Verify this certificate at:
<https://coursera.org/verify/specialization/F6XQLCT3LJ7W>